

Victory College

April 2010

Victory College has proudly been associated with Dimond Architects for a number of years. Dimond Architects have been a major part of Victory College's expansion contributing their excellence in the design of state of the art buildings and creative ideas.

Dimond Architects have recently been involved in the design of our new library and sports stadium which houses a double international standard basketball court. They have combined smart ideas with attractive, innovative designs to create striking buildings. Dimond Architects are easy to communicate with and encourage input from their clients.

I highly recommend them as not only professional, but practical in their approach to building and design.
